February 11, 2009:

Disaster and Tornado Preparedness

Brad Gilbert, Director of the Union County Emergency Management Association, discussed the role of the Union County EMA in assisting with disaster preparedness, mitigation, response, and recovery. Deputy Director, Paul Slaughter, also spoke of his past experiences in Emergency Management for the State of Ohio and commented that Union County had one of the most well-developed EMAs in the state.

The Union County EMA helps to coordinate resources before, during, and after an emergency. They also review agencies' emergency plans and conduct training exercises. They are the central point of coordination within the county for response to disasters and they activate/manage the County Emergency Operations Center, held in the same room as our Lunch and Learn sessions! They also assist individuals and businesses in obtaining grants to obtain emergency supplies.

Severe Weather Awareness Week is being held on March 22-28 and a State-Wide Tornado Drill is being held on March 25 at 9:50am.
